*Note: Biol 202/202L may be freely replaced with BMS 329 (generally taken in the junior year) for graduation purposes (not for preveterinary medicine requirements).

*Free electives and specified group electives are often chosen to complement the student's "Directional Studies" program. Directional Studies programs are elected career development scheduling schemes which individually prepare students for careers in the animal industry. They are explained fully in AnS 110 and through appointments with the student's academic advisor in Dairy Science. Copies of individual programs are available in 123 Kildee. The Directional Studies Programs are:

Advanced Degree in Dairy Science, Agricultural Promotion & Information, Agricultural Sales & Marketing, Animal Production & General Agribusiness, Business & Finance, Dairy Food Industry, International Agriculture, Pre-Veterinary Medicine
